EXPLORING INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS ON THE LOCAL AND GLOBAL STAGE: ACTIVISM, EXPERIENCES, AND LIMITATIONS

International Studies at UND invites you to attend events that explore pressing human rights issues. In a series of events, we will discuss why human rights is one of the most celebrated and controversial ideas in our world today. Why do some people believe that human rights is the best way to bring about positive change in the world while others reject it as a new form of cultural imperialism? Co-sponsors are the Women and Gender Studies Program, the History Department, and Modern and Classical Languages and Literatures.

---

Feb 4
“Exploring Transnational Human Rights Groups”
by Paul Sum and Brian Urlacher

March 4
“Busting Out: The Role of U.S. Companies in Promoting Women’s Rights in the Developing World”
by Christyne Vachon

April 1
Roundtable: Grand Forks as a Global Community:
Being an Immigrant and New American in ND

April 29
Neoliberalism and Human Rights:
Unresolvable Tensions?
UND Student Projects

EVENTS TAKE PLACE AT THE BACKSTAGE PROJECT AT THE EMPIRE ARTS CENTER.
RECEPTION BEGINS AT 6:30
SESSIONS START AT 7:00