Join us for an exciting and challenging exploration of the language, culture, and literature of the Spanish-speaking world!

Why study Spanish?
Given the presence of a large Spanish-speaking population in the United States and the growing commercial and political ties between the United States and Latin America, there is a tremendous need for Spanish speakers in a wide range of professions.

If you are thinking of a career in Health Sciences, Law, Social Services, Business, Finance, Marketing, Tourism, Government, International Relations, Advertising Public Relations, Journalism, Education, Psychology, Teaching, or Aviation, then Spanish may be the major or minor for you!

A major or minor in Spanish will only enhance your employment opportunities in these and many other fields.

Spanish at UND

The Spanish major and minor are based on a carefully structured, well-integrated series of courses in language, culture and literature. You will have the opportunity to learn and perfect your language skills: reading, listening, writing, and speaking. You will explore the civilizations, cultures and customs of the Spanish-speaking world. You will gain an appreciation of Spanish and Latin American literature. Special topics courses in culture, literature and language offer advanced study. We occasionally offer Spanish classes tailored to meet the specific needs of other professions such as health, social work, business and teaching.

Study abroad
We encourage study abroad in Chile, Spain and Peru. Credit transfers from our approved programs are automatic. http://und.edu/academics/international-programs/education-abroad/index.cfm

Placement Testing
Students with a background in Spanish may receive course credit by testing through the Languages Department. Native speakers and students with AP or CLEP credits may also be eligible for higher placement. http://und-public.courseleaf.com/undergraduateacademicinformation/departmentalcoursesprograms/languages/

Scholarships
The Department of Modern & Classical Languages & Literatures offers a number of scholarships to students interested in studying abroad. http://arts-sciences.und.edu/languages/info/scholarships.cfm

Ciclo de cine
The Spanish film series brings movies from around the Spanish-speaking world.

La mesa española
The Spanish Table provides an opportunity to meet informally with students, faculty, and interested individuals within the community for the express purpose of speaking Spanish. We meet once a week during the semester.
