

Two Photographs

Kya Olstad

Artist's Statement

My work is a collection of sunsets I have taken over the past few years in different locations. I love sunsets (and sunrises), something about them just . . . speak to me. Whenever I see one, I feel mesmerized, so mesmerized that I almost forget to take my phone out and add it to my collection. Some are extremely blinding, while some paint the sky. This submission allows me to share some of my photography of one of the things I cherish and love most in nature. I call them (as many others do), my golden hours. 👉 🥰

Angel Wing

The Painted Sky

Kya Olstad is a junior at the University of North Dakota majoring in psychology. She is a musician and writer who loves movies, television, and anime. (Before transferring to UND from Winona State University, she was a film major!) She loves young-adult coming-of-age stories, dramas, and horror movies. She loves dogs and has five! She's also a martial artist and lifter, who's on the powerlifting team at UND.